

2. The Basic Act for Gender Equal Society (Promulgated and Enacted on 23 June, 1999)

The Basic Act lays out the five pillars (basic principles) relating to the formation of a gender-equal society. It also clarifies the roles of the public administration (the national and local governments) and citizens, that is, the responsibilities and basic policies.

■ Basic Principles: Five (5) Pillars in regard to the Formation of a Gender Equal Society

■ Roles of the State, Local Governments and Citizens

