My message on ending violence against women and child abuse...is that education is the key that opens every door: it gives you the tools to rise above your circumstances, and the foundation to reach for a better future. Gender violence is not a problem that affects only women, it affects all of us, without making any cultural or economical difference. Therefore, we must work together to pioneer for the next generations and to plant the seed of tolerance and respect, to achieve equity, appreciate diversity and end all forms of violence through education as a way towards unity. We must engage on the way of change one step at a time, to break apart the stigma and protect women and children.

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

As Miss International Aruba, I am honored to be a purple & orange Ribbon ambassador that can bring awareness about these critical issues. Because the more we shed a light on domestic & child abuse, the closer we get to the day when survivors no longer have to hurt in isolation. In Aruba, domestic abuse is a common Reality, local organizations such as "Fundacion pa hende muher den dificultad" are able to save lives by offering guidance & a safe haven for women and children. However we must go beyond treatment, preventative action must be taken. As international role models we must pressure our local governments to implement laws that protect women and children. It will never ever be acceptable for anyone to degrade

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

My heart breaks for every child and women who are victims of any abuse worldwide. 1 in every 3 women worldwide have experienced either physical, sexual or emotional abuse at some point in life.

Moreover, it is estimated that globally up to 1 billion children aged 7-12 years have experienced some kind of abuse in the past year; often from family, friends, caregivers, peers and partners.

Today, I call upon society to stand strong and render support to children and women experiencing abuse.

I call upon government bodies, Human Development and Police authorities to act accordingly and bring justice to those who commit against defenseless women and children.

Let's stand strong and bring back some love!

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....
Violence in all the forms is an act that demonstrates the lack of education and tolerance we've among people.
Women're the most respect being, because life's born from them.
Children are angels without wings in the world because with their innocence and love they fill the world.

I believe that love is the greatest force that exists and that with love we can change many things.

Education is essential to understand that we should not resort to violence to solve a problem or to have fun.

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

Violence against women and child abuse are still a reality in all nations. We must unite and arm ourselves with that which triumphs over any form of violence: LOVE.

We will be the voice of those who are silenced by fear, the defence of those who are made to comply and stay out by their innocence.

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

First, understand that gender-based violence exists, and learn to distinguish the traits that separate healthy and unhealthy relationships. And that an estimated 1 billion children globally between the ages of 2-17 have experienced violence or neglect in the past year alone. What is worse, is that ~~the~~ 64% of battered women exhibit symptoms of PTSD, and violence/neglect of children can lead to serious injury with stunted growth, lifelong emotional and mental trauma and substance abuse.

Learn to recognize when someone is suffering from gender-based violence and support them to seek help, as they often do not have the strength to fight for themselves.

The fight for a brighter future starts with fostering new generations of safer and healthier children, which is why I support Miss International and their mission to ultimately end violence against children and women.

Let's work together and put an end to violence against women and children!

Violence, in all its manifestations, is the root of the problems that affect our societies. In order to create a better world we need to protect women's and children's full and equal human rights.

We must promote a culture of equality between men and women through legal reform, education, awareness-raising and the full engagement of each one of us.

The change is possible if we believe in the power of education and love. ♡

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

i believe we live on a changing era one that evolves with it's society. and with that comes certain social responsibilities. Being members of a society we must face everyday problems and one of those are violence against women and child abuse. we must be aware that this is not a matter that can be fixed over night but can be accomplished in time. with that comes fighting to end gender inequality, specially from the early stages of education for men and women. we must raise a new society, one that has a new mindset. we should learn to take pride from brave, responsible, hard-working communities (not only women, but men as well). raise awareness and engagement on fighting violence against women. I believe one way of doing this is by creating workshops, campaigns and roundtable discussions so all society members get to inform themselves about this social issue the world is facing everyday and how to reach out for help when needed, minimize and even hopefully end it.

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

La violencia contra mujeres y niños está presente en algún momento de sus vidas sin importar el país, es un mal expandido en el mundo que trae consigo consecuencias nocivas en la salud emocional y física de la persona que la sufre siendo parte de estos grupos vulnerables, sin distinción de países, culturas, nivel educativo o económico; esto provoca la perpetuidad de un círculo vicioso de violencia, las conductas violentas se transmiten de generación en generación, aceptando acciones hirientes, denigrantes e inhumanas.

Mi mensaje se basa en la prevención, debemos tomar medidas urgentes para frenar la repetición de estos patrones violentos, necesitamos romper con el ciclo de violencia basándonos en la educación sobre el ciclo de violencia, el fortalecimiento emocional de niños y mujeres, desde temprana edad enseñar que la violencia no es normal, no es amor ni nada parecido, que somos todos dignos de buen trato y respeto, que debemos amarnos y cuidarnos ¡Rompamos el ciclo!

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

As a medicine student and a citizen of Guadeloupe, I feel really concerned about violence. Everyday, I see victims of domestic abuse.

In the future, I want to be a psychiatrist. When I am at the hospital, I see women in distress, afraid to face their husband, but taken in a trap: "if I leave, will he kill me? what about our children?..."

It breaks my heart when I feel helpless in front of them. Husbands need to stop beating their wife. When you really love someone, you don't want them to be hurt.

At the hospital I also see children abused. Parents need to be aware about the consequences. Violence can make your child retarded or traumatized... You don't want your child to have difficulties in life. As a parent, your role is to protect and take care of your kid.

For a better world, let's stop violence. Spreading love is better

Una parte fundamental para la prevención y eliminación de la violencia contra la mujer y el maltrato infantil es evitar que este fenómeno siga siendo invisible y entender que solo forjando un buen hogar con valores y principios se puede obtener una solución a largo y mediano plazo a este problema que lamentablemente es hoy en día tan común. Es importante el no quedarse callado ya que el maltrato puede seguir y puede acabar en una tragedia. la violencia contra las mujeres y niños es la más extendida violación de derechos humanos e impide el progreso hacia la justicia y la paz así que mi mensaje es NO TE QUEDES CALLADO

Women around the world are considered as the pillar of the family, which means she symbolizes life around the world.

Nobody deserves to be trapped in a relationship ~~in~~ in which you are a victim of violence out of financial need or love, because there is still life in it. So talk about it in order to get help! Free your mind of your self by saying "No" so you will prevail the femicide.

A child is important and innocent person and drastic measures are needed to punish those who mistreat them. Because children have rights, the good protection and education to equilibrium adults. Women and children remain the pillar of future society.

To avoid the violence of children, they should be educated from a young age in the home so that they can respect and value each other.

World is an amazing place, we as the living ones we need to protect and respect each other. Violence against women and child abuse are a worldwide problem that includes a physical and a mental damage in the victims.

As a beauty Ambassador we can use our voice to change the world and make it better, I think that the solution for this problem is education, if we teach and encourage people to be respectful, to work hard to reach their goals, to love each other no matter frontiers and flags, everything is gonna be better, If we give people the tools to improve like books to read, mental support, their gonna take the opportunity for a better future, not just for them also for their family making a society with values.

with love and effort everything is possible, I invite all people to keep learning, loving and looking for a better future without violence.

Toda mujer y niño tiene derecho a vivir de manera segura y libre de violencia. Una vida sin violencia es esencial para la salud de todos. Como comunidad, debemos tomar medidas y ayudar a promover una cultura que no permita ni acepte el abuso violento contra las mujeres y niños.

Debemos entender que el abuso no es amor, el abuso se trata de control. El verdadero cambio comienza con nosotros. Debemos profundizar en nosotros mismos y encontrar el significado de la fuerza interior y la paz, ya que esto ayudará a eliminar la violencia y nos acerca a la felicidad.

Las mujeres a diario sufren muchos tipos de violencia, el mensaje que transmitimos con el listón lila es que no están solas, que deben denunciar cualquier tipo de abuso. Juntas somos capaces de erradicar todo aquello que nos haga daño. Juntas podemos más.

Acerca del maltrato infantil sabemos que sigue siendo un flagelo mundial a pesar de las constantes campañas y luchas que existen actualmente. Esto nos motiva a seguir porque no podemos negar que hemos ganado camino pero aún nos queda mucho por delante y solamente unidos podremos eliminar por completo este mal. Un niño violentado en cualquiera de las formas ve sus capacidades vulneradas, debemos tomar conciencia que ellos no son el futuro, ya son nuestro presente.

Esta causa me toca muy de cerca ya que trabajo con niños portadores del VIH. Como embajadora de mi País me sumo a esta lucha.

My message on ending violence against women and child abuse.....

Domestic violence including child abuse is an epidemic that affects millions across the world. Women and children of every race, religion, culture and status... I was one of those children. I grew up in an abusive environment and experienced first hand the devastating affect domestic violence has on children. Even at an early age I knew I wanted to fight to break the cycles that create and harbor abuse through human psychology. So how can we bring change and stop this cycle? By ending the silence. I've dedicated my time to volunteering with the Fremont Unified School district giving presentations + speeches to young adults + children on teen domestic violence and family abuse. I believe educating the next generation and sharing my story can start a chain reaction to break the cycle of domestic violence. We need to raise awareness for this issue and properly educate the youth to recognize and take action, we must end the silence and become the voice for the voiceless.

I have been working with girls through the sport as a way of building self-esteem, confidence and security, to help them recognize the power inside them to defend their rights and to become strong women that can make a change in society.

If women and child don't feel safe and secure we can't say we live in an equalitary, secure and pare society.

With hope, faith and work we can start a big movement of change to build a better future for us and for the next generation.
